

Beulah Gay Holubeck

July 6, 1943 - December 6, 2025

Tampa, Florida

On December 6, 2025, Beulah Gay Holubeck died at home in Tampa. She was 82. Born in Tampa on July 6, 1943; Norwegian-American cooking and payday thrift set the tone of the house. Young, she understood that quiet competence outlasts loud plans.

She kept ice that held festivals and piecework with equal care. A shrimp ice house thermometer chalked outlasted two captains. Colleagues still mention a shrimp ice house thermometer chalked.

In 1969 she married Richard. The marriage was not a speech; it was groceries, repairs, and two sons walked to school in weather that did not care. When Richard died in 2018, she kept what still worked: the early walk, the small garden, the call on Sundays.

Neighbors remember coffee offered before questions. She preferred the hour before a town fully wakes. Tampa was home enough that she never rehearsed an introduction. The lunch pail still waits by the back door.

What remains is not a legend but a practice: showing up, keeping a promise, leaving a place better than you found it. Her life was the kind America is built from and too often forgets to name.

Services

Services in Tampa will be simple: stories, coffee, and the names of people who showed up. Flowers optional; support for a local clinic or trade scholarship preferred.
