

Dorothy Sue Stringfellow

May 1, 1954 - August 24, 2025

Little Rock, Arkansas

Dorothy Sue Stringfellow of Little Rock died on August 24, 2025 at the age of 71. She was born on May 1, 1954 in a Polish-American family that measured love in finished chores. She learned early that a day is something you finish, not something you wait for.

She kept sheets that turned seed into wages without inventing weights. A gin seed house ticket spindle ended arguments more gently than speeches. Colleagues still mention a gin seed house ticket spindle.

She and John married in 1978 and raised three children without needing an audience. After John's death in 2018, she held to quiet habits-coffee before dawn, a tended yard, a voice on the phone that still checked in.

Neighbors remember covered dishes that arrived without a speech. She preferred the hour before a town fully wakes. Little Rock was home enough that she never rehearsed an introduction. The work gloves still keep the shape of a grip.

What remains is not a legend but a practice: showing up, keeping a promise, leaving a place better than you found it. Her life was the kind America is built from and too often forgets to name.

Services

A quiet remembrance in Little Rock. Those who wish may give to a neighborhood library, food pantry, or workers' aid fund instead of flowers.
