

Earnest Paul Spangle

December 17, 1948 - January 16, 2025

Savannah, Georgia

Savannah lost Earnest Paul Spangle on January 16, 2025. He was 76. Born in Savannah on December 17, 1948, into a Welsh-American household that treated work as a language. He learned that neighborhoods remember who helps without being asked.

He set fires that turned clay into something walls could trust. A kiln fire setter poker wrapped preferred work over speeches. Colleagues still mention a kiln fire setter poker wrapped.

He and Carol married in 1972 and raised a son and a daughter without needing an audience. After Carol's death in 2018, he held to quiet habits-coffee before dawn, a tended yard, a voice on the phone that still checked in.

Neighbors remember covered dishes that arrived without a speech. He preferred the hour before a town fully wakes. Savannah was home enough that he never rehearsed an introduction. The key is still under the same brick.

What remains is not a legend but a practice: showing up, keeping a promise, leaving a place better than you found it. His life was the kind America is built from and too often forgets to name.

Services

A quiet remembrance in Savannah. Those who wish may give to a neighborhood library, food pantry, or workers' aid fund instead of flowers.
