

Eugene Keith Brubaker

July 23, 1938 - September 27, 2025

Savannah, Georgia

On September 27, 2025, Eugene Keith Brubaker died at home in Savannah. He was 87. He was born on July 23, 1938 in a French-American family that measured love in finished chores. From the start, he treated promises like tools: keep them sharp, do not lend them lightly.

He issued parts that kept lifts from improvising danger. An elevator key ring with spare fuses rode his belt like a conscience. Colleagues still mention an elevator key ring with spare fuses.

He married Virginia in 1960. They kept a house that stayed modest when the neighborhood did not. They raised a son and a daughter through public schools and ordinary weather. After Virginia died in 2018, he kept the routines that still made sense: the walk, the garden, the Sunday call.

Neighbors remember someone who swept the sidewalk past the property line when weather had been unfair. He liked early mornings before the heat or the noise. He died in Savannah, among streets he never needed to explain. The work gloves still keep the shape of a grip.

Services

A memorial gathering in Savannah with coffee afterward. In lieu of flowers, a gift to a local workers' fund, clinic, or neighborhood library is welcome.
