

Floyd Jay Stanfield

November 9, 1952 - July 13, 2025

Allentown, Pennsylvania

Floyd Jay Stanfield died in Allentown on July 13, 2025. He was 72. Born in Allentown on November 9, 1952, into a Portuguese-American household that treated work as a language. He learned early that a day is something you finish, not something you wait for.

He pressed pellets that farms would trust without knowing his name. A pellet press sample scoop labeled kept shifts fair. Colleagues still mention a pellet press sample scoop labeled.

He and Doris married in 1976 and raised four children without needing an audience. After Doris's death in 2018, he held to quiet habits-coffee before dawn, a tended yard, a voice on the phone that still checked in.

Neighbors remember a shovel borrowed and returned sharper. Mornings were his favorite shift at home. He died in Allentown, on streets that already knew his pace. The chair by the window still holds the shape of a habit.

What remains is not a legend but a practice: showing up, keeping a promise, leaving a place better than you found it. His life was the kind America is built from and too often forgets to name.

Services

A quiet remembrance in Allentown. Those who wish may give to a neighborhood library, food pantry, or workers' aid fund instead of flowers.
