

Floyd Wade Thrailkill

September 15, 1946 - August 24, 2022

Boise, Idaho

In Boise, on August 24, 2022, Floyd Wade Thrailkill died at 75. Born September 15, 1946 in Boise, carrying Slovak-American stories that arrived without footnotes. Early on, he decided that a paycheck and a handshake should weigh the same.

He bagged ash that had to look inevitable on pallets. A soda ash bagger stitch needle kit rebuilt more trust than memos. Colleagues still mention a soda ash bagger stitch needle kit.

He and Joan married in 1973 and raised two children without needing an audience. After Joan's death in 2015, he held to quiet habits-coffee before dawn, a tended yard, a voice on the phone that still checked in.

Neighbors remember a rake leaned against a shared fence after a storm. He liked early mornings before the heat or the noise. He died in Boise, among streets he never needed to explain. The extra coffee is still in the thermos.

What remains is not a legend but a practice: showing up, keeping a promise, leaving a place better than you found it. His life was the kind America is built from and too often forgets to name.

Services

A quiet remembrance in Boise. Those who wish may give to a neighborhood library, food pantry, or workers' aid fund instead of flowers.
