

Frank Gene Leaman

May 14, 1930 - May 3, 2026

Ogden, Utah

Frank Gene Leaman of Ogden died on May 3, 2026 at the age of 95. Born in Ogden on May 14, 1930, into a Filipino-American household that treated work as a language. He grew up believing that showing up was the first craft.

He rewound paper that shelves could trust. A rewinder knife sheath oiled was his preferred tool. Colleagues still mention a rewinder knife sheath oiled.

He married Ruth in 1952. They kept a house that stayed modest when the neighborhood did not. They raised three daughters through public schools and ordinary weather. After Ruth died in 2019, he kept the routines that still made sense: the walk, the garden, the Sunday call.

Neighbors remember quiet help with a stuck mailbox or a heavy trash can. He liked early mornings before the heat or the noise. He died in Ogden, among streets he never needed to explain. The key is still under the same brick.

What remains is not a legend but a practice: showing up, keeping a promise, leaving a place better than you found it. His life was the kind America is built from and too often forgets to name.

Services

A memorial gathering in Ogden with coffee afterward. In lieu of flowers, a gift to a local workers' fund, clinic, or neighborhood library is welcome.
