

James Earl Pendergast

November 9, 1942 - August 31, 2026

Greenville, South Carolina

James Earl Pendergast died in Greenville on August 31, 2026. He was 83. Born in Greenville on November 9, 1942, into a Scotch-Irish household that treated work as a language. He learned early that a day is something you finish, not something you wait for.

He graded leaf with hands that knew seasons. A soft grading glove outlasted fashion; buyers trusted his eye more than moisture meters. Colleagues still mention a grading glove soft as cloth.

He married Eula in 1969. They kept a house that stayed modest when the neighborhood did not. They raised three children through public schools and ordinary weather. After Eula died in 2019, he kept the routines that still made sense: the walk, the garden, the Sunday call.

Neighbors remember a wave from the driveway that meant you were seen. He liked early mornings before the heat or the noise. He died in Greenville, among streets he never needed to explain. The recipe card is still stained in the useful places.

Services

A memorial gathering in Greenville with coffee afterward. In lieu of flowers, a gift to a local workers' fund, clinic, or neighborhood library is welcome.
