

Leonard Wayne Krogman

October 22, 1935 - April 3, 2026

Bangor, Maine

In Bangor, on April 3, 2026, Leonard Wayne Krogman died at 90. Born in Bangor on October 22, 1935; French-Canadian cooking and payday thrift set the tone of the house. Young, he understood that quiet competence outlasts loud plans.

He kept tanks that strangers would trust without knowing his name. A pound tank thermometer chalked taught apprentices to wait. Colleagues still mention a pound tank thermometer chalked.

He married Shirley in 1960. They kept a house that stayed modest when the neighborhood did not. They raised a son and two daughters through public schools and ordinary weather. After Shirley died in 2019, he kept the routines that still made sense: the walk, the garden, the Sunday call.

Neighbors remember the radio low on a Saturday while repairs got done. He liked early mornings before the heat or the noise. He died in Bangor, among streets he never needed to explain. The porch still expects a returning step.

What remains is not a legend but a practice: showing up, keeping a promise, leaving a place better than you found it. His life was the kind America is built from and too often forgets to name.

Services

A memorial gathering in Bangor with coffee afterward. In lieu of flowers, a gift to a local workers' fund, clinic, or neighborhood library is welcome.
