

Marjorie Gay Gundrum

December 1, 1942 - August 9, 2025

Bangor, Maine

Marjorie Gay Gundrum died in Bangor on August 9, 2025. She was 82. Born on December 1, 1942 and raised among Finnish-American manners that never needed a speech. From the start, she treated promises like tools: keep them sharp, do not lend them lightly.

She tended tenters that shook the floor into a rhythm. A dye house tenter notebook yellowed but legible outlasted two managers. Colleagues still mention a dye house tenter notebook yellowed.

In 1968 she married Gerald. The marriage was not a speech; it was groceries, repairs, and three children walked to school in weather that did not care. When Gerald died in 2018, she kept what still worked: the early walk, the small garden, the call on Sundays.

Neighbors remember coffee offered before questions. She liked early mornings before the heat or the noise. She died in Bangor, among streets she never needed to explain. The recipe card is still stained in the useful places.

What remains is not a legend but a practice: showing up, keeping a promise, leaving a place better than you found it. Her life was the kind America is built from and too often forgets to name.

Services

Services in Bangor will be simple: stories, coffee, and the names of people who showed up. Flowers optional; support for a local clinic or trade scholarship preferred.
