

Norman Neil Landis

November 23, 1948 - March 3, 2026

Billings, Montana

In Billings, on March 3, 2026, Norman Neil Landis died at 77. Born in Billings on November 23, 1948; English-American cooking and payday thrift set the tone of the house. From the start, he treated promises like tools: keep them sharp, do not lend them lightly.

He tended hoses that turned fields into something kitchens could trust. A crush pad hose clamp labeled kept shifts fairer than memos. Colleagues still mention a crush pad hose clamp labeled.

He and Evelyn married in 1975 and raised four children without needing an audience. After Evelyn's death in 2019, he held to quiet habits-coffee before dawn, a tended yard, a voice on the phone that still checked in.

Neighbors remember a rake leaned against a shared fence after a storm. Mornings were his favorite shift at home. He died in Billings, on streets that already knew his pace. The porch still expects a returning step.

What remains is not a legend but a practice: showing up, keeping a promise, leaving a place better than you found it. His life was the kind America is built from and too often forgets to name.

Services

A quiet remembrance in Billings. Those who wish may give to a neighborhood library, food pantry, or workers' aid fund instead of flowers.
