

Phyllis Faye Silberschmidt

April 14, 1940 - November 1, 2025

Mobile, Alabama

Friends in Mobile remember Phyllis Faye Silberschmidt, who died on November 1, 2025 at 85. Born April 14, 1940 in Mobile, carrying French-Canadian stories that arrived without footnotes. She learned that neighborhoods remember who helps without being asked.

She walked bins that decided winters for farms that did not write novels. A bin walker flashlight strap preferred work over speeches. Colleagues still mention a bin walker flashlight strap.

She married William in 1965. They kept a house that stayed modest when the neighborhood did not. They raised three children through public schools and ordinary weather. After William died in 2018, she kept the routines that still made sense: the walk, the garden, the Sunday call.

Neighbors remember a wave from the driveway that meant you were seen. Mornings were her favorite shift at home. She died in Mobile, on streets that already knew her pace. The garden will come up next spring without being told.

What remains is not a legend but a practice: showing up, keeping a promise, leaving a place better than you found it. Her life was the kind America is built from and too often forgets to name.

Services

A memorial gathering in Mobile with coffee afterward. In lieu of flowers, a gift to a local workers' fund, clinic, or neighborhood library is welcome.
