

Roy Dean Aeschliman

March 23, 1939 - August 13, 2024

Juneau, Alaska

Juneau lost Roy Dean Aeschliman on August 13, 2024. He was 85. Born on March 23, 1939, with Dutch-American roots that shaped the table more than the flag. He learned early that a day is something you finish, not something you wait for.

He tended mullers that presses would not forgive if wrong. A sand muller scoop labeled meant the day belonged to accuracy. Colleagues still mention a sand muller scoop labeled.

He and Martha married in 1963 and raised two children without needing an audience. After Martha's death in 2017, he held to quiet habits-coffee before dawn, a tended yard, a voice on the phone that still checked in.

Neighbors remember covered dishes that arrived without a speech. Mornings were his favorite shift at home. He died in Juneau, on streets that already knew his pace. The key is still under the same brick.

What remains is not a legend but a practice: showing up, keeping a promise, leaving a place better than you found it. His life was the kind America is built from and too often forgets to name.

Services

A quiet remembrance in Juneau. Those who wish may give to a neighborhood library, food pantry, or workers' aid fund instead of flowers.
