

Chicago building permits, September 27–October 3, 2026

Public notice. The City of Chicago Building Permits file lists 712 permits with an issue date from September 27, 2026, through October 3, 2026.

In that same count, the summed reported cost was $183,165,375.64. The newest issue date in the file is October 2, 2026.

The largest permit-type groups in this window were express permit program (468), renovation or alteration (119), signs (51), new construction (28), elevator equipment (19), and wrecking or demolition (16). Those six groups account for 701 of the 712 permits.

This notice gives citywide counts only. It does not list a street address, a file number, or a contractor.

The figures come from the city's public data portal. Check the city's own copy before you rely on a permit.