Nevada casinos reported $1.27 billion in gaming win for August 2026, up 3.14 percent from August 2025, the Nevada Gaming Control Board said Sept. 30. Reno was up 15.69 percent and the Boulder Strip 17.38 percent. Downtown Las Vegas fell 2.96 percent. The Las Vegas Strip rose 0.70 percent. State percentage-fee collections in September were $72.6 million, down 5.98 percent.

On Sept. 30, 2026, the Nevada Gaming Control Board released August 2026 gaming revenue. Nonrestricted licensees, the larger casinos, reported a total "gaming win" of $1,266,105,114. That is 3.14 percent more than August 2025, when they reported $1,227,573,173.

Gaming win is the money casinos keep after paying out winning bets. It is not profit. It does not count hotel rooms, food or shows.

For the fiscal year so far, July 1 through Aug. 31, 2026, statewide gaming win is $2,653,861,479. That is up 2.58 percent from the same two months a year earlier.
